

Skyler C3™ powered by Tervela provides Ultra Low Latency Trading Infrastructure

Skyler's C3™ platform, combined with Tervela's hardware-based messaging fabric, accelerates the entire trading cycle from the moment market data enters the enterprise to the delivery of orders to the market. Take advantage of this new platform to find new Alpha generating trading opportunities across multiple liquidity pools with the confidence that no one will be faster.

Key Features

- Embedded feed handling for North American equities
- Real-time order book aggregation and analytics
- Open framework for custom in-memory analytics
- Hardware-based messaging and caching
- Hardware-based order routing and delivery
- Highly robust to handle market data volume spikes
- Microsecond delivery to trading application

Skyler Technology, Inc. develops ultra low latency trading solutions for faster and smarter trading. The Skyler C3 solutions source liquidity and trigger smarter trading decisions to achieve higher fill rates at better prices.